

Monday

Costars Matt Lanter (Liam), Tristan Wilds (Dixon) and Michael Steger (Navid) swung by the set on their day off to meet Lochte

Lochte and Loaded!

Over the summer, gold medal-winning Olympic swimmer Ryan Lochte was the hottest commodity on the planet. So it's no wonder that 90210 scrambled to rewrite a script when the 28-year-old hunk expressed interest in taking on his first TV role. In tonight's episode, look for Naomi (AnnaLynne McCord) to bump into the athlete on a path near a rope course while out glamping (glamorous camping) with her new hubby.

"Ryan hasn't acted before and we thought playing himself would be easier for him," says executive producer Lara Olsen. "And when word came down that people wanted like to see him shirtless, we made sure he was comfortable with that."

Lochte did have one concern: He objected to a line that insinuated he goes from one girl to the next, so producers cast a pretty young

Lochte (with McCord) says he was told "to just relax, don't try to be an actor, be yourself" actress to play his girlfriend. Then, later on set, makeup artists had to quickly conceal Lochte's tattoo of the Olympic rings near his right underarm when producers realized they had not cleared the copyrighted image with the Olympic committee. He was also sprayed with fake sweat. "If they just wait a bit," laughed Lochte, "I'll be sweating for real."

And he's not the only Olympian invading The CW. The network has also lined up cameos for gymnast Gabrielle Douglas on The Vampire Diaries and Douglas' teammate, McKayla Maroney, on Hart of Dixie. Go, Team USA! —William Keck

90210

8/7c, The CW
cwtv.com, hulu.com,
iTunes; Twitter:
@CW_network

MATT'S PICK

The Voice 8/7c,

NBC, nbc.com It may sound harsh, but isn't this "Knockout" round really just a way to give some of the remaining singers a solo performance before being told they're not good enough and they're eliminated?

All on the Line 9/8c, Sundance, sundancechannel.com

Nicole Richie's a little nervous about the flop potential of her multimillion-dollar QVC line, so it's Joe Zee to the rescue!

Season finale

Revolution 10/9c, NBC, nbc-

.com Time for Danny to face the music—or at least General Monroe. Here's hoping he fares better than poor injured Nora.

REDFORD ALERT!

The Big Picture: Rethinking Dyslexia

7/6c, HBO, hbogo.com

Robert Redford's son James goes behind the camera for an in-depth look at those struggling with the disease. The issue hits close to home: His son Dylan (below) was diagnosed at age 9.

